National League Convention 2012 Highlights and Takeaways...by JoAnne Day

The National League of Women Voters convention was held in Washington, DC from June 8 – 12. The South Carolina delegation was 14 strong, including Columbia members Rita Paul, Keller Barron, Janelle Rivers and JoAnne Day.

The theme of the Convention was “The Power of the Vote – Imagine, Commit, Act!” This being a Presidential election year, the emphasis on voting issues was front and center.

Voter Access

Widespread voter suppression is underway nationally, and Leagues are on the front lines fighting back. One of the highlights of the Convention was a keynote address by Eric Holder, Attorney General of the United States. He spoke glowingly of the League and our work to advance the democratic process. Attorney General Holder stated:

“Since its establishment in 1920, the League of Women Voters has been on the front lines of our nation’s fight to expand the franchise, to ensure that all eligible citizens have access to the ballot box, and to uphold this country’s founding and enduring promise of “government of, by, and for the people.”

He also spoke about defending and protecting the voting rights of all citizens and mentioned South Carolina in the context of the Department of Justice litigation challenging voter id laws in our state and also in Texas. Mr. Holder reiterated the League position that voting is not a privilege but a right and emphasized the need to modernize our Voter Registration system with the ultimate goal of automatically registering citizens to vote.

(The full text of his speech to the League can be found at www.justice.gov/iso/opa/ag/speeches/2012/ag-speech-120611.html)

Campaign Finance Reform

The role of money in politics has been a longstanding concern in our democracy. The League has been fighting to overcome the impact of the Citizens United decision on money in elections. On the floor of convention, League delegates voted to condemn this tragic Supreme Court decision. The League also pledged to continue the important work of bringing disclosure to the flood of money in elections by passing the DISCLOSE Act of 2012 and continuing to examine a full range of additional steps.”

The Prez Says...

Rita Paul

Welcome to our “summer” issue of League Lines! While it may seem we have taken a bit of a “breather” from League activities, don’t be fooled—there is much to look forward to!

We had a good crowd at our Annual Meeting in May and I thank all of you who were able to attend and be heard. Your new board is printed below—some returning members and five new members. Look for more highlights on board members to help you get to know each better.

Speaking of “old” board members, I hope you all had as much fun as I did “celebrating Janie White” on June 1st! It’s not often that someone commits as much time as Janie has—15 years—on the Columbia Area board. Janie may be off the board, but she still has lots to do! Thank you, Janie!

Public Policy luncheons will start back on September 20th. We anticipate having Martha Roblee’s sister, Wendy Young, as our September speaker to address immigration issues. Please consider bringing a friend to hear this interesting topic which rarely is printed in local news.

Please be sure to read Carol Medich’s wrap up of our Youth Voter Registration project (p. 4). We were successful in registering many young people who represent our future electorate. All made possible by Carol’s leadership! Thanks, Carol - we are so grateful to you and your committee.

South Carolina had great representation at LWV National Convention in Washington, DC [June 8-12]. As you can tell by JoAnne Day’s article (p. 3), it was jammed packed and exciting. It is truly an amazing experience and I hope many of you will have an opportunity to attend a national meeting in the future.

If you have not returned your survey regarding League Lines to Sej Harman [sejharman@att.net – or for another copy to complete], please do so right away. We absolutely need your input regarding how you use our newsletter and what recommendations you have for improving our communications. We need your guidance; please provide it by giving us recommendations on what you would like to see and how our communications might work better for you.

Looking forward to seeing and hearing from you as we move into another exciting League Year!

Rita

Editor’s note: Rita is planning a lunch to enable old/new Board members and potential leaders to get to know each other and conduct a bit of business. Think about filling out our calendar for the year and supporting our committees (Communications, Program, Voter Services, Finance/Budget, Public Policy Lunches, and other programs, local government(s) monitoring). Let us hear from YOU! ritapaul@hotmail.com

Other Convention speakers, including Trevor Potter, President of the Campaign Legal Center, Former Congressman Mickey Edwards (R-OK) and Political Reporter Eleanor Clift, urged the League to look closely at the steps needed to fix the broken campaign finance system and to press forward using our community-based power on behalf of all voters and for elections that are determined by the voters.

In her acceptance speech for another term, the League's re-elected president Elisabeth MacNamara challenged delegates: "The League is not an end in itself. We are a training ground for democracy. That is what we have always been and that is what we will always be, working together to learn new ways to spread the word and encourage new generations to learn and engage."

the League was not known to many respondents. Leagues across the country need to raise our profile in our communities and this election season will provide multiple opportunities.

See 2012-14 LWVUS Officers and Directors under "Announcements" on page 5 of this issue.

Visibility

The League needs to be seen and heard!

Raising the visibility of the League and the Importance of messaging in every League activity was spearheaded by a new Membership and Leadership initiative. The delegates in attendance contributed over $30,000 to fund this new effort. Focus group respondents who had heard of the League had great respect for the League of Women Voters. The surprise was that

League Remembers.....

Alice Karesh was born November 17, 1907, in Missouri. She received a degree in education and was widowed in 1942. She married Coleman Karesh of Columbia on December 25, 1949. She was a member of various local organizations before moving to Florida in 1996.

Sarah Leverette: I remember Alice as the most gracious lady I have ever known. Her husband Coleman Karesh taught me in Law School. He was one of the most brilliant, respected, and beloved professors at the Law School over a period of 25 years. They both were deeply loved, respected and revered by students and faculty alike. In their home on Amherst Avenue, they reared four lovely children, each with the gracious manner and spirit inherited from Alice and Coleman, and whom I enjoyed meeting recently at a post-funeral gathering at the Coleman Karesh Law Library at the USC Law School.

Dorothy Jones McMurray, always known as "Dida," was born on October 13, 1918, in Manila, Philippine Territory. Alerted to the likelihood of war with Japan, Dida moved back to New Jersey and worked in New York City as executive assistant to renowned industrial designer Raymond Loewy. On June 12, 1943, Dida married David John (Jack) McMurray, her high school classmate. Always active in her family, she was also prominent in the LWV and strongly supported the environmental movement. A visionary and enthusiast about SC, in the 1960s she established the Carolina Potpourri shop, which exclusively featured the work of SC artists.

Suzanne Rhodes: I remember Dida as a leader in Environmentalist, Inc., although we were both active with the League at different times. Dida was always a passionate environmentalist, and was one of the few strong supporters of the effort to close down the experimental Allied General Nuclear Services nuclear fuel reprocessing plant in the Aiken area. She enjoyed her weekend "House that Jack Built" which her physician husband built on Lake Murray, as well as her full time lake home in the Chapin area, where she moved later in life. She was a happy homemaker for her five children, subsequently larger family, and participated widely in the community. She is one of the few folks I've known who were strong Republicans who became a Democrat later in life. Always thoughtful, always reading widely, always sharing interesting tidbits others had missed, Dida was a great friend and strategic partner to many in the community.

Keller Barron: I am proud to be a member of an organization that attracts women of the caliber of Dida Murray and Alice Karesh. Their stories typify members of the Columbia League during the formative years. We owe our reputation as a respected historical organization working for "good government" and informed citizen participation to many dedicated women such as Dida and Alice.

The League offers condolences to

...Hayes Mizell on the recent death of his grandson, Marley Lion

...Pam Craig and Horace Holloman on the death of Pam's brother.

VOTER SERVICE

YOUTH VOTER REGISTRATION PROJECT

The Youth Voter Registration Project has been completed. The Columbia League made 10 site visits and registered 266 students with the assistance of 25 League members. We discovered that many of the local high schools had conducted their own voter registration projects through government classes. Richland One School District conducted registration in all of their high schools; we were able to participate with them as they did their final school—A. C. Flora.

We plan to use the contacts made at these schools to conduct further registration as soon as school begins in August. In the past, some schools throughout the area have invited the League to have a voter registration table at their “Back to School Night” or their first PTA meeting.

A big thanks to all League members who participated in this project. Hopefully, we can count on you for continued participation in our summer/fall activities.
